Welcome to the October Edition of The Romsey Rag

Where has the year gone? We are now in the last quarter of the year with only 12 weeks until Christmas! But before we focus on that the weather is starting to warm up so now is the time to be spring cleaning. While the warmer weather will bring a welcome change, it is a good time to re-visit your fire safety plans just in case you are faced with the need to evacuate your home in the event of a bush fire.

After a recent review the Committee has put together new advertising rates for 2019/2020. These can be found on page 22.

At the end of September the old email address was decommissioned, please ensure you send all correspondence to our new email below:

Fire Station Siren Testing

The Romsey Fire Brigade has recently re-introduced monthly testing of its Station siren as part of the regular testing of equipment.

Each Sunday volunteers forgo a weekend sleep in to check and maintain Brigade equipment to ensure it is ready for use when an emergency happens. Equipment checked includes the fire appliances, radios, pumps, defibrillators and chainsaws.

Residents in the vicinity of the Fire Station may now hear the Station siren being checked on the last Sunday of the month as part of the maintenance schedule. The siren is used as a backup system by the Brigade to call fire fighters to the Station when other alerting systems have failed.

It is not used at Romsey to advise the community of an emergency. For information about emergencies that may affect Romsey, residents should continue to rely upon other approved community warning sources such as the CFA website (www.cfa.vic.gov.au), through Twitter @CFA_Updates, the CFA (Country Fire Authority) Facebook page, the VicEmergency app and emergency warnings provided over radio stations such as ABC Melbourne.

Romsey Brigade History

There has been a fire brigade serving the Romsey community since 1884. The Brigade is proud of this history and is working on documenting details about the people and events that have shaped the fire brigade of today.

Residents who may have memorabilia, photos or other important information to contribute to the history that is being documented are encouraged to contact the Brigade via the Brigade Secretary paul.wallworth@members.cfa.vic.gov.au.

1. What's a Life Direction Coach?

Life Direction Coach is a coach for Life Success

A Life Coach is often thought about as a "Coach for Life Success". A personal coach can help the client reach his/her dreams by focusing on tangible goals. A Life Coach works on a client's self improvement to achieve professional and/or personal goals. The client will become his/her very best and will learn new and effective ways of doing things. The life coaching sessions will assure that the client is able to deal with future events in a more positive and successful way.

Life coaching assures that goals and values are in harmony

A Life Coach will make sure that the client has a clear direction in life and that the goals are in harmony with the client's values. This is very important because if there is conflict there can be no success, but if the client works from a place of clarity and harmony, positive results will appear faster. A personal coach guides the client, step by step, to success.

Romsey Mechanics Institute Monthly Update

Over the last few years the CoM has worked hard to weather-proof the whole building, part of this process was the removal of the heavily ivy covered old wood shed. This shed did not allow any wind down the southern side of the building and this greatly reduced the drying of that side. The CoM worked closely with our neighbour on that side to remove much of the old, severely damaged fence. A new fence has now been built making both our neighbour and the RMI far more secure.

A few years ago we planted a number of indigenous, native flowering bushes along the eastern boundary of the RMI. These plants have all survived and this spring we are hoping they will more than double in size and provide habitat and food for many insects and smaller birds.

We would like to thank all those people who took the time to support the RMI "Pick My Project" application for a complete toilet upgrade. If we are successful, the RMI and the town will have a modern and far more flexible facility better able to cater for many and varied events. We wish all the other Romsey application all the very best.

The RMI is hosting Pevan & Sarah Children's Concert on October 2nd. More information at;

<http://www.romseymechanicsinstitute.com/events/pevan-sarahs-childrens-concert/>

If you are planning something, a birthday, an anniversary, an engagement or any other function please consider the RMI. Our web site gives a good idea as to what we have to offer. Bookings and all inquiries can be made at; rmibookings@gmail.com, or via the web site. We are more than happy to discuss your function, show you through the hall or supper room and explain the hire process.

Council's Plan to Help Protect Plants and Animals in the Shire

Flourishing and connected communities of native plants and animals, plentiful and accessible natural places, and healthy and vibrant waterways are all part of Council's vision for the shire, as outlined in the new draft Macedon Ranges Biodiversity Strategy.

Council is seeking input and feedback on the strategy, which identifies policy and planning initiatives, as well as priorities for protection, community engagement and processes for monitoring biodiversity.

The draft strategy proposes to:

- Establish a landscape connectivity plan to increase native vegetation cover, supporting significant habitat patches and numerous threatened species.
- Support private land conservation through a new landholder education program and increased resources for ensuring compliance with native vegetation regulations.
- Investigate planning provisions to ensure the ongoing protection of areas of high conservation value, including restructuring and expansion of existing Vegetation Protection Overlays.

- Establish a comprehensive biodiversity monitoring program utilising a series of focal species and the involvement of citizen science and community surveys.

Have your say

To view the draft Macedon Ranges Biodiversity Strategy, visit mrsc.vic.gov.au/yoursay or a Council customer service centre in Kyneton, Gisborne, Romsey and Woodend.

The draft will also be on display at Council's information stall at the Woodend Farmers Market on Saturday 6 October.

Feedback can be sent to Macedon Ranges Shire Council, PO Box 151, Kyneton VIC 3444 or emailed to mrsc@mrsc.vic.gov.au by Sunday 21 October 2018.

Protecting our Trees from the Elm Leaf Beetle

Macedon Ranges Shire Council is treating elm trees located in local streets, parks and reserves in Kyneton and Lancefield for Elm Leaf Beetle.

The annual control program will treat around 850 trees, aiming to protect elm trees from the pest, which feeds on the leaves of elm trees and defoliates mature trees. Trees that have been attacked present a distinctive round hole in their leaves and repeated infestations can seriously weaken trees.

While it is impossible to eradicate the beetle, Council has developed a preventative management program to protect significant stands of elms, which are predominantly in our parks and avenues.

Treatment will continue through October and November at locations including the botanical gardens in Kyneton, Gisborne and Tylden.

Treatment methods include spraying and injecting the soil around the root zones of trees with low toxicity insecticide. This safe and effective method of treating large trees tends to protect them for more than one season.

Council is a member of Friends of the Elms Inc. (FOTE), which maintains a state-wide elm register and helps local government and other bodies to manage threats to elm trees.

Residents with elm trees on their properties are strongly encouraged to register their trees by contacting FOTE via foteinc@hotmail.com or 0409 870 860. Please note: residents are responsible for treatment works on their own land.

For more information about Council's Elm Leaf Beetle management program, call 5422 0333.

Free Registrations for Desexed Cats

Want to register your cat for free? Then why not take advantage of Council's new offer of free first-year registration for desexed cats.

Council is encouraging residents to be responsible pet owners and ensure their cats are desexed, microchipped, and registered with Council.

Council impound statistics show an increasing number of unwanted cats coming into the pound system, mostly undesexed and unidentified.

It is hoped that the free first-year registration for desexed cats initiative will reduce the number of unwanted cats in our community, reduce impacts on wildlife and reduce some of the nuisance issues caused by cats such as roaming, urine marking, and aggression.

For more information on the benefits of registration and how to register your cat with Council, visit mrsc.vic.gov.au/pet-

RRBATA UPDATE

Romsey Streetscape Project Official Milestone Event

An official milestone event was held on Wednesday 29th August, to mark the soon to be completed Romsey Streetscape Enhancement Project. Margot Stork, CEO Macedon Ranges Shire Council, hosted the event which culminated with Mary-Anne Thomas (Member for Macedon) and Mayor Jennifer Anderson cutting the ribbon. The project, which was funded by both Regional Development Victoria (State Government) and Macedon Ranges Shire Council will be completed later this year when the lighting works stage is completed. It was great to see so many community working group members who had worked toward the project's concept plans in attendance at this event. A broader community celebration will be held once the works have been completed.

Library Reviews by Laura Mitchell

Please Like Me Season 1 DVD

Please Like Me follows the misadventures of a young man in his early 20s, living in the inner suburbs of Melbourne with his equally dysfunctional friends and family. In this first season Josh comes to terms with his sexuality and struggles to support his mother through a period of poor mental health. The strength of Please Like Me lies in writing and performances that bring depth and lightness to relatable topics. I bumbled through my own early 20s with people very much like these characters as we dealt with similar issues.

Even the set has the same comforting dagginess that many of us may recognise from share-houses we have known. I was quickly hooked and have watched the whole series at least three times

The Hate Race Maxine Beneba Clarke

This is Melbourne author Maxine Beneba Clarke's memoir of growing up in the 80s and 90s in Sydney's outer west, written in simple and beautiful prose. Like Please Like Me, The Hate Race contains many details that make it relatable to someone of my age and background – a childhood spent catching tadpoles and coveting Cabbage Patch kids. This makes the difference between her childhood and my own all the more stark. The central theme of the memoir is the racism that Beneba Clarke experienced on a daily basis, threaded throughout her interactions with children and adults alike. It comes in many forms, some overt and many more insidious. The Hate Race is an important read for white people seeking to understand the reality of life in Australia for people of colour and invites a healthy dose of reflection on how small, unthinking behaviour may impact those around us.

The True Story of the First to Discover Gold in Australia

By Peter Mitchell

The early Australian history books stated that Edward Hargreaves was the first to discover gold in Australia. This is not correct.

William and Anne Tom migrated from Cornwall in 1836 to settle on 640 acres in the Orange district. Two of their sons, James and William, became expert horsemen and found work droving stock, travelling widely throughout Australia. James travelled either alone or accompanied by an Aboriginal. He had many stories to tell of his experiences whilst braving the dangers of hostile tribes and bushrangers.

In 1851 the Tom family secured a place in Australian history with the discovery of gold. Edward Hargreaves, who had returned to NSW from the Californian gold rush, stayed at John Lister's hotel. Lister, who had been prospecting for gold, took Hargreaves to the Ophir Creek where they obtained traces of gold.

James Tom joined Hargreaves and Lister on an expedition which also obtained traces of gold. In March 1851, brothers James, William and Henry set out for a point on Ponds Creek, about a mile above the junction with the Ophir. This trip proved successful as they arrived home with a little over sixteen grains of gold. Several weeks later John Lister, James and William Tom found the famous four ounces of gold on 7 and 11 April 1851 at the junction of Lewis Ponds and Seymour Hills Creek, a tributary of the Macquarie River, not far from their home. They sent the nuggets to Hargreaves who promptly persuaded the Colonial Secretary that the find was genuine. Hargreaves received £10,000 reward from the NSW government for being the first to discover gold, together with £2081 from the newly formed Victorian government, and a life annuity of £200. Hargreaves returned to England with the money and the recognition that the Tom brothers and John Lister rightly deserved. In 1923 an obelisk was built in Ophir to mark the site of the first gold discovery in Australia with the names of John Lister, and James and William Tom.

James took up a large tract of land on the Lachlan River called Cowl Cowl Station. In 1858 James and William bought Camerons Run, later called Chintin Grange at the Kilmore land auctions. Chintin Grange was a large property of several thousand acres at Chintin near Romsey. The property was later sold in the 1980s.

James is credited in naming the Springfield district after the name of their family property in Orange.

I often wonder if the articles I do featuring recipes are too simple.

Certainly, one can't have a lot of ingredients a mile long. Or a method which is so complicated King Solomon couldn't unravel it. So does this mean the recipe should be boring or predictable? The answer is to include an unexpected ingredient which is not so exotic as to be unacceptable to the majority of listeners.

For instance, cooking a carrot. It can be boiled, microwaved or pan fried with garlic, butter and honey. But to make it out of the ordinary add tarragon and wrap the carrot in a wilted lettuce leaf.

Or add a dollop of marmalade with garlic juice to a lamb chop.

So, dear reader, the above is the reason I'm suggesting canned tuna and yoghurt with a porterhouse steak.

The Italians have been serving a tuna sauce with veal for centuries. But, because fresh tuna is expensive and often unobtainable in many regions, I use canned tuna in oil (Sirena brand).

The tuna, oil and all, is tipped into a blender with a good amount of natural yoghurt. (About half the volume of tuna - add enough to suit your taste - but not enough to mask the flavour of the tuna.). Spread an amount over the centre of a plate. The tuna sauce should be wider than the cooked porterhouse you place on it. Either scatter blueberries over the steak and sauce or strategically place two or three strawberries around the steak. Don't overcrowd the plate with other food, other than a few fresh young raw spinach leaves.

If you wish vegetables, either serve them as an entree, or in a separate bowl with oil, lemon juice and mirin.

International Day of Older Persons

On 1st October, the world celebrates the International Day of Older Persons, to stand up against ageism and arguably against elder abuse too.

The World Health Organisation's definition of 'older person' is someone 65 years or older, and the first of the Baby Boomer generation started turning 65 in 2011. So whilst the majority of Baby Boomers are now 'older persons', many would certainly not identify as being elderly.

In fact, Jacqui Brauman of TBA Law considers many of the Baby Boomer generation to also be in the 'Sandwich Generation' - they are sandwiched between their adult children and the needs to their elderly parents. Just when they begin approaching retirement, and they thought they could have some more time to themselves, they feel like their obligations have never been greater.

Because those in the Sandwich Generation tend to be who everyone looks to, to rely on, if something should happen to them in terms of an accident or sudden illness, then the scenario could be disastrous for other family members. Jacqui Brauman encourages the Sandwich Generation to take care of their estate planning, and then talk to both their parents and their children about ensuring theirs is also done. Studies by Public Trustees around Australia have a consensus that at least half of all adults do not have a valid Will. For the Sandwich Generation, they are likely to be the ones left taking care of the estate for the generations on either side of them, if someone is injured or dies.

For their elderly parents, the Sandwich Generation needs to consider Centrelink benefits, aged care (either home help or residential care), failing mental capacity, and also making sure the appropriate people are appointed into roles of attorney and executor for their parents.

With new laws introduced in Victoria in 2015, there are finally criminal penalties for attorneys who do not act in the best interest of the person who appointed them, but this does not capture every circumstance of elder abuse, unfortunately. Seniors Rights Victoria reveals that physical, social and psychological abuse against the elderly, including mistreatment and neglect, were the most commonly reported forms of abuse. For free, confidential information on a situation you believe may involve elder abuse, please contact Senior Rights Victoria on 1300 368 821.

For their adult children, the Sandwich Generation needs to make sure that their children understand their superannuation, binding nominations and the insurance components that they are entitled to on permanent disablement or death. Their superannuation is often their biggest asset at this age, and because it is not an estate asset, it does need special attention.

If their adult children have children of their own, then the Sandwich Generation need to speak to their children about who they are appointing as guardians. The Sandwich Generation may not want to be guardians for their grandchildren, for fear of not having the energy or health, or even just not wanting the responsibility. Or it could be the opposite, and the Sandwich Generation want to absolutely be the ones appointed as guardians for their grandchildren. None of this should be assumed, but should be spoken about and planned for.

Finally, for themselves, the Sandwich Generation need to ensure they plan properly to transition into retirement, plan for their own ageing, and make sure that their estate will be inherited by their children in the way that is best protected. They will not want their hard-earned estate to be squandered be disputes between their children, or marital breakdowns that their children may face.

The International Day of Older Persons is an ideal day for awareness, educating yourself about estate planning and aged care, and deciding to not put off the hard topics of discussion anymore.

Seas of Circumstance

Our body is like a boat and we are its Captain.

We sail through life on the Seas of Circumstance.

It is up to us in which direction we head. There will be many waves with Crests of Exhilaration and Troughs of Depression. Amazingly, the Winds of Grace are always blowing. These winds are God's purpose and plans for our lives.

They lead to Life in Abundance and Life Eternal.

However, many of us pull down our Sails of Faith, reach for our Oars of Craving and row straight onto the Reef of Destruction.

We choose which direction we take. Our decisions determine what our end will be. Where is your life headed at the moment?

The Good news is that whilst we are alive here on earth, it is never too late to change course. If you need help navigating through life, why not pop into Encourage Church and receive the necessary skills to choose the best course for your life and overcome whatever the Seas of Life may throw at you.

Please join us for an informative presentation titled "Evolution.... We have a huge, huge problem!!!!" Saturday 27th October 7pm-9.30pm at Encourage Church, 7 Mitchell Court, Romsey.

THE WORK OF THE HOLY SPIRIT - 4 - TO INSTRUCT

Jesus assured his disciples that when He left them His Spirit would come to them, so that His Living Presence would be with them everywhere and always. When His Holy Spirit came, He would work to make an unbelieving fallen humanity aware of their sinful state, to awaken - us - to the need of accepting Jesus Christ as our Saviour and Lord. By repentance, seeking God's forgiveness, and so we are reconciled to Him. Then, the Holy Spirit begins His work of transforming the believer's life into the likeness of Christ. We have all had teachers along life's way beginning with our parents, then school, trades and professions. No matter how good our teachers are if we do not heed their teaching and we neglect their instruction we will miss out on our calling. The Holy Spirit comes to teach us what it is to have a personal relationship with God, our Heavenly Father and Jesus, our Saviour and Lord. We may know all about a person without really KNOWING him or her... But we must want to know GOD, and JESUS, the One, Whom He has sent! Even so, He still comes! We must have the questing heart, the enquiring mind, the listening ear and the eager will to hear the Spirit speaking to us. He comes to each of us individually according to where we are at in our spiritual lives. And, day by day, along our life's way, He will guide, govern and fill us, revealing the deep truths of God and truths about ourselves.

The Holy Spirit is God's gracious power as the guiding and enlightening Presence with His people!

"And His that gentle voice we hear,
Soft as the breath of even,
That checks each fault and calms each fear,
And speaks of Heaven"

Last month, some of us enjoyed a pleasant day in fellowship to the Creswick Woollen Mills Outlet Shop at Daylesford. It was profitable for Creswick and for the Christ Church Restoration Fund and satisfied customers. Thank you, to our careful drivers who brought us safely there and back.

We were saddened by the death last month of our esteemed life-long member of Christ Church, Robert Green. He was a faithful stalwart of Christ Church and several community organizations, incl. a past President of the Lancefield/Romsey Historical Society and the Lancefield Mercury Editorial Committee. We extend our prayerful sympathy to Meryl and Family. We remember before the Lord our ailing members, especially Laurie Thomson's daughter, Kath as she recovers from her serious operation.

Vale: A Service of Thanksgiving to Celebrate the life of Helen Clement was held at the Uniting Church on Tuesday 4th September. Helen had been a resident at Willowmeade Aged Care facility in Kilmore for some time, but we were all saddened by her passing. Helen had a true faith in God and he looked after her all throughout her life. Appreciation is extended to all who helped, providing food for the funeral. especially the Romsey Red Cross ladies.

The members of the Romsey Uniting Church are grateful for the support shown for our fundraising for Frontier Services Drought Relief during the Whole Town Garage Sale. The church had a Stall, Sausage Sizzle and Devonshire Teas and we raised the total of $550.30 which included generous donations. Thank you to everyone who helped on the day.

Nostalgic Memories - More than an apron

The principal use of Grandma's apron was to protect the dress underneath, because she only had a few.

It was also because it was easier to wash an apron than dresses and aprons used less material. But along with that, it served as a pot-holder for removing hot pans from the oven.

It was wonderful for drying children's tears, and on occasions was even used for cleaning out dirty ears.

From the chicken coop, the apron was used for carrying eggs, fussy chicks and sometimes half hatched eggs to be finished in the warming oven.

When company came, those aprons were ideal hiding places for shy kids. And when the weather was cold, Grandma wrapped it around her arms.

Those big old aprons wiped many a perspiring brow, bent over the hot wood stove. Chips and kindling wood were brought into the kitchen in that apron.

From the garden, it carried all sorts of vegetables. After the peas had been shelled, it carried out the hulls. In the autumn, the apron was used to bring in apples that had fallen from the trees.

When unexpected company drove up the road, it was surprising how much furniture that old apron could dust in a matter of seconds.

When dinner was ready, Grandma walked out, onto the porch, waved her apron, and the men folk knew it was time to come in from the fields to dinner. It will be a long time before someone invents something that will replace the 'old time apron' that served so many purposes.

They would go crazy now, trying to figure out how many germs were on that apron. I don't think I ever caught anything from an apron - but love.

With spring really arriving members have been hard at work keeping The Romsey Park grass under control. Both the fairways and the rough grow tremendously quickly during Sept/Oct and if we don't get on top of it the growth really gets out of hand. All this work requires a great deal of time and fuel.

The club's bi-annual deep hollow-tyne coring of the greens was undertaken on Thursday 27th, all greens were cored, top-dressed, seeded and fertilised. On the Friday 28th members assembled at Romsey Park to carry out a variety of maintenance and improvement works. Among these were a protective fence behind the 3rd green to stop balls from going into our neighbour's back yard, scarifying and top dressing of all tees and removing dangerous low or damaged branches.

With the 2018/19 Bowls season is about to begin the golf club would like to thank RBC president John Beaumont for his efforts to avoid golf/bowls syllabus clashes on two important days for the golf club, the 2018 Macedon Ranges Spring Cup (Sept 22) and the 2018 Romsey Open Tournament Nov 24/25)

The Golf/Bows rooms are managed by a combined committee. This committee has responsibility for the day to day operations and maintenance of the building. It is sad to report that someone has cut the chain securing the gas bottles and stolen one. Theft such as this not only inconveniences everyone but takes money away from planned improvements. Our thanks to Manny "The Woodman" who has donated a gas cylinder.

HELLFIRE PASS

by Jim Brown

Community Poem

I've just come back from Hellfire Pass, I'll never be the same, Because now, you see, I understand how that place got its name.

A railway cutting hewn from rock, fire making light,
For men like dancing skeletons to toil both day and night.
'Death railway', men have called it, a railway built on blood,
Every sleeper cost a life, laid down in rock and mud.
Then came Dr Edward Dunlop, known as Weary to his men,
He hardly ever closed his eyes – he'd sleep just now and then.

How did you do it, Weary? How did you carry on?
To keep the hopes of men alive when all real hope was gone.
How many diggers did you save? Did you ever stop to ask?
While your weary hands kept working in the flames of Hellfire Pass.

Weary survived Hellfire Pass, and to his final breath,
Believed hate inside a heart was just another form of death.
So he started building bridges, he knew revenge must cease.
'There'll be no victory,' he said, 'without a lasting peace.'
It is no shame for men to cry – we all cry, weak or brave,
And Weary often shed a tear for those he couldn't save.
So he had it written in his will, 'There's just one thing I ask
Please place my ashes with the boys back there at Hellfire
Pass.'

Weary – is that the River Kwai? Or the Murray flowing fast?
Is that the Southern Cross, or the sparks from Hellfire Pass?
No more nightmares, Weary, now you rest in peace at last,
You're the saint who outshone Satan in the flames of Hellfire
Pass.

The Burma Railway was built in 1942-43. It is a 415 km railway linking Bangkok and Rangoon. It was completed in October 1943, seventy five years ago. The railway was built for the Empire of Japan by slave labour - 60,000 allied prisoners of war. 13,000 of these prisoners were Australian - starved of food and medicine, they were forced to work impossibly long hours in an unhealthy tropical climate and 2,700 died there

I sent a cartoon to Weary once. It was drawn by Michael Leunig, who had his character, Mr Curly, standing on a hill-top and peering into a large telescope, which he had pointing down towards a city. On the side of the telescope was written the word, understandascope. Weary replied, inviting me for a cup of tea. Perhaps he understood.

Now the weather is warming up, our pets will be venturing outside more, which means they are likely to come into contact with biting bugs. Boo! At some stage chances are your pet will get bitten by a mosquito, tick or flea. Therefore keeping an eye out on bite symptoms including:

- Red, swollen bite causing pain after a few hours
- Lack of appetite
- Listlessness
- Depression

Taking preventative measure can save your besties life!

Bees and wasps can be a hazard for pets sniffing around in the garden especially if stung around the mouth and throat. Stings in these areas can be potentially dangerous by causing breathing difficulties. Like humans animals can be allergic to bee stings so if your animal has been stung in the mouth and throat, or has multiple stings anyway on the body see a vet immediately.

Ticks occur in long grass, heathland and woods, so it is a good idea to check your pets if they have been in these areas. There are special tick hooks to remove ticks but if you are unsure visit your vet to prevent parasites taking hold.

Fleas are another common type of bites so watch out for excessive scratching, hair loss and potential infections. To prevent flea infestations, ensure your pet is up to date with their flea treatments.

Heartworms are small parasites that can enter your dog, cat or even ferret's bloodstream through mosquito bites. It is good to be proactive and regularly use preventative products to reduce the risk of heartworm disease. However, preventatives do not kill adult heartworms already in your pet's body, so a blood test is recommended. To find out more information about heartworm, visit heartwormsociety.org and, if you have any concerns, be sure to speak to your vet. A good tip to help minimise mosquito bites is to use citronella-scented candles in the garden to deter them.

No matter what type of bite if you are ever unsure it is best to contact your local vet.

New Advertising Charges for 2019/2020

The past year has seen many changes to The Romsey Rag. The focus since the initial edition in February this year, has been exclusively on compiling the Rag and getting it published in the best possible format and on time. We hope we have been reasonably successful in these pursuits.

It has been a steep learning curve for the Committee during this time. A recent review of the costs has resulted in new advertising charges which will be applied in 2019. It has also been decided to move to a financial year account keeping process.

For those who select the 11 month option, we will offer a much reduced cost to run an additional quarter, half or full page advert or flyer.

We will also be offering a special half page "Local Business Showcase". New and/or existing local businesses will be able to let everyone know who you are, what you do, where you are and anything else you wish to include. The Showcase will be published at the top of page 3.

The Not For Profit Community Group Memberships charges have been clarified and will now offer both five and eleven month half and a full page options. All Not For Profit groups will receive information explaining these new charges during November.
